Cardiff Council Issue 153 September 2013

City set to embark on their Premier dream

CARDIFF Council is getting behind Cardiff City FC as the club prepares for life in the Premier League.

With Cardiff due to play their first matches away at West Ham and then home to Manchester City this month, the city is getting ready for the start of what promises to be an exciting journey.

The club's promotion to the Premier League is great news for the whole city as it has been estimated that in having a Premier League club, Cardiff will reap important economic benefits.

It is expected that Cardiff City's success will create hundreds, if not thousands, of new jobs, strengthen the visitor economy and showcase the city to a global television audience.

Cardiff Council is particularly delighted at the club's promotion as it was the Council, in 2003, who worked in partnership with the club to put in place the vision for the new City Stadium at Leckwith.

Cardiff Council Leader, Heather Joyce, said: "Like most people across the city, I am incredibly proud of what Cardiff City has achieved and can't wait for the new season to begin.

"The administration has been working closely with the club to understand all the opportunities that Premier League football will give to the city and we are all very excited about the potential that lies ahead.

"Over the next nine months, we will also be welcoming thousands of fans to our city, many of whom will not have been to Cardiff before. I know that being in the Premier League is going to give us the opportunity to showcase our marvellous city to a global audience – and that is another very exciting prospect."

She added: "Having Premier League football in Cardiff is vitally important for this city. As a capital, we're used to hosting major events but Premier League football has been the missing piece in our sporting jigsaw so it is really thrilling that Cardiff will now be able to host some of the biggest names in world football such as Manchester United, Chelsea and Liverpool. Let's get behind the team and enjoy the season ahead."

A day in a life

The latest in a regular series looking at the jobs carried out by Council employees. This month Senior Reception Officer Haris Karim talks to Capital Times.

EACH day starts at around 7.30am when I come in and set up the front desk in reception, check emails, reply and find out about meetings that will be taking place here at County Hall that day. Then we get ready for the members of the public who will be coming to County Hall with their business, problems and requests.

Requests can range from funny to the very strange – I once had a chap come in asking for a divorce and I had to explain to him that we don't do that here! Another time, a gentleman came in with an injured seagull in the back of his car - he'd driven to County Hall to ask what he should do. I rang the RSPB and they came along to collect the bird.

We have a lot of people coming in who aren't really sure who they need to speak to so we have to direct them on to the right people. Our tool is information, knowing how to direct enquiries and if we don't know the answer to a query, we have to find out. We always get by with a little help from our friends at County Hall.

Sometimes, people can be angry when they come in but we don't take it personally. We understand that people can be upset about problems they face so we listen, try to help and put them in touch with the right person. Nine times out of ten, they go away thanking you for your help because they've got their problem solved.

With 1,800 officers in the building, I like to greet as many of them as I can every morning on their way in to work and on their way home in the evening. It's good to be friendly and make people welcome here.

We have famous faces through the doors as well from time to time. Cardiff City manager Malky McKay has been here among many others – you'd be surprised who we see in reception.

I finish work around 5pm when security takes over on the front desk. I've been in this role for around seven years but in total, I've worked for the Council for more than 20 years. I used to be a landscaper but I was redeployed here which was quite a change after working outside for most of my life.

The best part of the job is meeting people. Officers are friendly, we have a chat, talk about our friends and families and I do feel that we are one big family at County Hall.

Cabinet changes announced

THE Labour administration has increased the size of its Cabinet to help it manage the future of council services.

Council Leader, Councillor Heather Joyce, said: "In the current climate of austerity, Councils across the UK are having to look for creative solutions to maintain council services.

"Every area across the council will have to seriously consider alternative ways of delivering services and Cabinet members must have time to focus on all the options available in order to best protect services and jobs.

"I have therefore decided to make changes to the composition of my Cabinet to help address these changing circumstances. I have also made revisions to individual portfolio responsibilities in an attempt to improve service delivery."

The new cabinet is now as follows:
Councillor Heather Joyce (Leader); Councillor Ralph Cook (Deputy Leader); Councillor Siobhan Corria (Children's Social Services); Councillor Russell Goodway (Finance and Economic Development); Councillor Ashley Govier (Environment); Councillor Graham Hinchey (Strategic Planning and Transport); Councillor Julia Magill (Education and Lifelong Learning); Councillor Ramesh Patel (Sport, Leisure and Culture); Councillor Huw Thomas (Adult Services); Councillor Lynda Thorne (Community & Neighbourhood Regeneration and Social Justice).

Under the restructure the Deputy Leader has been asked to take responsibility for overseeing the work of the Council's policy and delivery units, the Cabinet office, Human Resources, including trade union relations, service re-design and efficiency projects and alternative service delivery mechanisms.

Councillor Joyce said: "I believe that it is crucial for this activity to be managed and coordinated across the Council whilst at the same time ensuring that the administration's policy agenda continues to be developed and delivered."

News in brief

Sustrans award for Gabalfa Primary

GABALFA Primary School has celebrated becoming the first school in Cardiff to gain the Silver Sustrans School Mark award.

Pupils and staff have worked hard to increase the number of pupils walking, cycling and scooting to school with regular events such a cycle breakfasts, picnics, competitions and events.

Members of the school's Bike It Crew have given motivational talks to pupils, parents and staff to encourage them to think about sustainable methods of transport in the community.

Final two bidders selected for landmark organic waste project

THE process to appoint a company to develop an organic waste solution for Cardiff and the Vale of Glamorgan is gathering pace.

Two companies - Kelda Organic Energy Ltd and Shanks Waste Management Ltd – have been selected to develop proposals for the most sustainable and value for money solutions for the Council to assess.

Cardiff Council Cabinet Member for Environment, Councillor Ashley Govier, said: 'I'm pleased this vitally important project for Cardiff and the Vale of Glamorgan has reached such an important milestone. The final two bidders are of excellent calibre with solid experience in this field and have come through a rigorous procurement process.

'We are now close to selecting a sustainable organic waste solution that will transform the way we treat the food waste we all produce into energy and fertiliser whilst providing excellent value for money for our residents."

He added: "We are working hard to ensure everyone properly recycles as much of their food waste as possible with this administration delivering on its commitment to the One Planet Cardiff Vision with tangible action and state-of-the-art technology the city can be proud of."

This local and sustainable solution will replace existing temporary contracts and is expected to contribute significantly to Cardiff's waste, recycling, composting and carbon reduction targets by diverting more and more waste away from landfill.

The scheme also has the potential to generate energy while producing compost and making organic fertiliser for the agricultural sector, with the technology adopted by the preferred bidder helping to reduce the city's carbon footprint.

Gabalfa interchange pilot works underway

A programme of improvements works has begun at the Gabalfa Interchange. The aim of the scheme is to improve the road layout and to make the roundabout safer for road users.

Cabinet Member for Strategic Planning and Transport, Councillor Graham Hinchey, said: "The works at Gabalfa are much needed. This particular roundabout has suffered from a number of accidents, including a fatality and there is a real need to introduce new traffic calming measures, including speed reduction."

The works will be undertaken in three separate pilot stages and, subject to the success of the experiment, the concluding stage will be the introduction of the final scheme layout in a permanent form.

The stages will be as follows:

Pilot Stage 1 - Implement temporary 30mph speed limits. Install temporary mandatory 30mph signs and advisory 20mph signs. A widening of the road on three corners so that there is space for larger vehicles. Create a dedicated left turn lane at the northwest corner (A48 to A470).

Pilot Stage 2 – Approximately three to four weeks after pilot stage 1 is completed, and subject to the findings of the stage 1 experiment, create a dedicated left turn lane at the northeast corner (A470 to A48).

Pilot Stage 3 - Approximately three to four weeks after pilot stage 2 is completed, and subject to the findings of the stage 1 and 2 experiments, create a dedicated left turn lane at the southwest corner (A470 to A48), and a dedicated left exit from the roundabout, southbound onto North Road (A470). Alterations will be made to the bus/traffic priority next to the bus-stops on the south-west access from North Road onto the roundabout.

Final Stage – subject to the successful outcome of the above three pilot stages, and the confirmation of the permanent Traffic Regulation Orders, implementation of the permanent works in the form of permanent lines and signs and permanent 30mph speed limits and advisory 20mph limits can go ahead.

Woodlands student's sign-language success

A student from Woodlands High School in Ely is one step closer to achieving her dream of becoming a British Sign Language teacher.

Annmarie Pocknell, 18, has attended Woodlands, a school for pupils with moderate to severe learning needs, since the age of 11.

From a young age Annmarie has had an ambition to work in a school and support students with hearing impairments. She spent time learning and copying staff at Woodlands and joined the school signing club to learn more signs.

Following a work experience placement at Coed Glas Primary in Llanishen, and with one year left at school, Annmarie began to consider her future. With support from staff at Woodlands, Annmarie enrolled on a British Sign Language Course at the Howardian Centre in Penylan.

In order to complete the course, Annmarie travelled by bus from Howardian every lunch time for two weeks to get back to school in time for afternoon lessons. She was the youngest student on the intensive course and was commended by her course tutor who wrote to Woodlands to say she was a credit to the school.

Annmarie said: "I enjoy signing and ever since I was little I have wanted to become a sign language teaching assistant. The course was brilliant, I loved it."

Annmarie's tutor at Woodlands, Lisa Purcell said: "We are so proud of Annmarie for this achievement because she has been determined to succeed in her goal and has persevered even though it was extremely difficult. Annmarie has shown what is possible to achieve if you set your heart on something and stick to it.

"She is a fantastic young lady with a huge amount of skills she can offer an employer. We really hope that after leaving school and college Annmarie will be able to find employment in a school helping students with hearing impairments. "

Biodiversity Corner

Biodiversity is all living things. It provides us with food, clothing, medicine, building materials and fuel. It helps reduce stress and aids relaxation. Each month Cardiff Council ecologist Matthew Harris will point out some of the great biodiversity you can see across the city.

SEPTEMBER

Biodiversity is all living things. It provides us with food, clothing, medicine, building materials and fuel. It helps reduce stress and aids relaxation. Each month ecologist Matthew Harris will point out some of the great biodiversity you can see across the city.

September ushers in the autumn months and brings with it an abundance of blackberries, rosehips, sloes, haws and elderberries. Whilst these might provide a treat for our jams, tarts and winemaking, they are essentials for a host of wildlife preparing for the coming winter.

Many of these fruiting species are associated with scrub habitats which form the transition between woodland, and shorter vegetation such as grassland.

Often maligned by people because of its association with dereliction, abandonment or lack of management, scrub provides food and shelter for a wealth of wildlife.

The complex mosaic of structure and species supports nesting birds and feeding insects, whilst the edge between scrub and more open habitats is a great place to sport basking reptiles. Where scrub softens the woodland edge, dormice, seeking to fatten up for long winter sleep ahead, feast on the nuts, seeds and berries that autumn provides.

I'll be back next month with more biodiversity attractions.

Bute Park's new children's play trail is proving a summer hit

UPSIDE down trees, fallen logs, stepping posts and a long winding snake called Barbara - these are among the latest additions to Bute Park's new children's play features.

The new play apparatus is proving to be a great free family activity over the summer break. It has been installed as part of the wider Bute Park Restoration Project, which is supported by a £3.1m grant from the Heritage Lottery Fund.

The 11 new outdoor items create an exciting and fun woodland balance trail for youngsters to play on and enjoy. They are situated within the woodland behind the Summerhouse Café, which is one of the most popular areas of the park for families.

The pieces are in keeping with other natural play items which have recently been positioned in several locations around the park. They include larger than life carvings and sculptures which depict elements of wildlife and the site's history, which encourage children to play, inquire and explore.

Cabinet Member for Sport, Leisure and Culture, Councillor Ramesh Patel said: "The new balance trail is another welcome addition to Bute Park, which following investment in new features and facilities is now a great day out for all the family.

"In keeping with the environment and surroundings the new natural play features are a fun and exciting way for children to interact and discover nature. They invite imagination-led play in a healthy outdoor environment and have been robustly made and installed so that families can enjoy them throughout the year."

Bute Park becomes a 'Living Classroom'

CHILDREN from Stacey Primary School in Roath were among the first to benefit from a new initiative to use the Bute Park Education Centre as a RSPB Living Classroom.

The joint RSPB Cymru and Cardiff Council initiative started in May this year with the aim of connecting more city children to the wildlife on their doorstep.

Kate Stuart

• Children from Stacey Primary School in Bute Park.

Michelle Marshall, a teacher at Stacey Primary School, said: "The children were asked to use all their senses to learn about the natural world. From hunting for mini-beasts, dipping for pond life and tracking signs of wildlife and environmental change – they had such an amazing time and learnt so much. I was surprised at how many different habitats they could explore within the park.

"The fact the Bute Park Education Centre is so accessible in the city centre makes it really convenient and the RSPB staff were very knowledgeable and professional."

At RSPB Living Classrooms, high-skilled field teachers work with schools and informal youth groups, and use a range of fun and educational techniques to engage and connect young people with nature.

If you are a teacher or a group leader in the Cardiff area and want to participate in a Living Classroom session at the Bute Park Education Centre, please call Tara Okon on 01633 636354 or e-mail tara.okon@rspb.org.uk

Badge of honour

Following a decision from the Welsh Government, Llanrumney High School closed its doors for the last time at the end of the summer term, with its pupils set to join Rumney schoolchildren at Eastern High school from September.

In June, a ballot was carried out asking all pupils from year 6 onwards (around 1,500 pupils) to choose their favourite badge out of the final three options.

Every pupil will proudly display the badge on their blazer and tie from the start of September.

Councillor Heather Joyce, Leader of Cardiff Council, said: "The history and community around Llanrumney High are very dear to me. The school gave four of my grandchildren a great start in life and I cherish those memories.

"Giving pupils the chance to have their say on the new uniform has allowed them to have some ownership of and influence over aspects of the changes taking place and it has been great to witness the children of both communities mixing well and working together to plan for the future."

Rumney High School will technically close in August 2014.

The new Eastern High school will be formally established from September 2014, initially on the Rumney site until new school buildings on a suitable site can be built. It is hoped the brand new school with post-16 provision will open in September 2016 on its permanent site.

Councillor Joyce added: "Providing our young people with the best possible start in life is extremely important to me and my cabinet and I am pleased to say the future looks very bright and seeing the future generations of this city develop and flourish even further because of these changes will be very special indeed."

School closes with a special concert

PUPILS and staff at Llanrumney High School performed in a special 'end of an era' concert last month before the school closed its doors for the final time.

Continuing its tradition of staging big musical productions and concerts over the years, the school put on its final performance, 'Musical Mash Up' featuring music from previous years' shows, including We Will Rock You, Hairspray, Grease, Bugsy Malone and many others including, Mamma Mia, Lion King and Les Miserables.

Directed by Emma Pawsey who led music at the school, pupils from Years 7 to 10 performed at the show which was one of a number of events held to celebrate the school's 56 year history.

Pupils, staff and members of the community enjoyed a special open day when they had the chance to view old photos and memorabilia as well as take one final walk around the school. And former and current staff came together at a barbecue at Peterstone Lakes Golf Club for an evening of memories and entertainment.

The school closes following the Welsh Government Education Minister's decision to accelerate its closure in August this year and the council's plan to transfer all pupils from Llanrumney High School to the Rumney High site from September, with a new school name and significant investment in school buildings.

Rumney High School will technically close in August 2014. The new Eastern High school will be formally established from September 2014, initially on the Rumney site until a new school building on a suitable site can be built.

Food festival is simply delicious

A feast full of entertainment was certainly delivered by the Cardiff International Food and Drink Festival last month. Many took advantage of the glorious sunshine, with a record 60,000 visitors in attendance across the three days, the highest figure since the event began in 1998. With a variety of food producers and free live music the event once again proved to be a big hit with residents and visitors.

Young designers turn back the clock to tell the Story

THE Cardiff Story Museum has been inundated with colourful designs from young artists after running a special poster competition.

Children were asked to design a poster that would help publicise the Cardiff Story Museum as a great free family day out during the school summer holidays.

It was a difficult decision but Nathan Morris, 10, was chosen as the eventual winner.

Janey Howell, a member of the museum's Development Trust and competition judge, said: "We were looking for a really eye-catching design. It was really difficult to choose the winner, but Nathan has done a fantastic job, portraying the themes of time travel and investigating the past. It's clear that a lot of effort went into his design."

Nathan's design features a time machine with a backwards clock. It also has key elements that feature at the Cardiff Story Museum including a young evacuee and a boat to signify migration.

Nathan's design will now be placed onto a poster which will appear across the city to promote the Cardiff Story Museum.

Second and third prize winners were Alisha Khan and Emma Reavell, both aged 10.

Cabinet Member for Sport, Leisure and Culture, Councillor Ramesh Patel said: "Congratulations to Nathan; his design was fantastic in capturing exactly what the Cardiff Story Museum is about, helping to showcase the history of our great city. I was impressed by the use of the backwards clock which is a great design feature to indicate going back in time. I am sure his poster will help to capture the imagination of children and encourage them to visit the Cardiff Story Museum."

He added: "I would urge anyone who hasn't been to the Cardiff Story yet to pay a visit - not only is it great fun but entry is free.

"The summer holidays look especially exciting at the museum with some great extra events, including story time sessions, craft activities, detective trails and lots more taking place."

Can you help the Council find homes for people in need?

CARDIFF Council is asking private sector landlords what support they can provide to find homes for people in need in the city.

A consultation event has taken place with landlords to understand the barriers that currently exist within this sector and explore the ways they can be overcome.

With the challenging economic climate, the Council has seen an increase in demand for housing services. Private rented accommodation plays a very important role in Cardiff's housing stock and the Council is committed to continue to work with landlords to offer the support and guidance they need.

There are often misconceptions about those who claim benefit. People can come into difficulties during their lifetime by losing their job, or other changes in circumstances, and rely on the Council to help them through their difficult times.

Councillor Lynda Thorne, Cabinet Member for Housing, Communities and Social Justice, said: "The Council would like to see private rented accommodation in the city fully utilised and we are very keen to hear from landlords who would like to work with us to help those that are less fortunate than ourselves.

"The Council does offer a variety of support services to help both tenants and landlords. I would like to thank all the landlords working with us already - you make a real difference."

• If you are a private sector landlord and would like to make inquiries please contact Private Rented Sector Team at the Housing Options Service on 02920 570750 or email Privaterentedsectorteam@cardiff.gov.uk

Residents celebrate new bridge opening

A bridge linking the Llandaff North, Llandaff and Radyr communities has been officially opened.

The Loop Bridge now links the two sides of the River Taff allowing for more accessible walking and cycling opportunities, a key link to the Taff Trail for the local and wider communities of Cardiff.

The work which began in October 2012, involved the refurbishment of the old railway bridge deck; the removal of the existing cantilevered walkways, parapets and stone ballast; steelwork repair; surface preparation; repainting and a new bridge deck surface and drainage system.

Historically the bridge provided a bypass loop from the former Radyr marshalling yard on to the Taff Valley Railway at Llandaff Station. The bridge played an important role for industries in the Glamorgan Valleys as it provided a link for distributing coal and freight.

The bridge is named as 'Loop Bridge' to remember the great impact it had on the industrial heritage of the area and to reflect the new circular walk it creates for the residents and park users.

As part of the opening event, Cardiff Walking for Health Organisation and Sustrans invited people to join in either an hour long group walk or to bring a bike and cycle with Sustrans from the newly refurbished bridge to Creigiau via Fairwater.

Lord Mayor Councillor Derrick Morgan said: "I was delighted to celebrate the completion of the renovations of the Loop Bridge, off Hailey Park, which has given the area a new lease of life and improved access between the Cardiff communities of Llandaff, Llandaff North and Radyr."

Councillor Graham Hinchey, Cabinet Member for Strategic Planning and Transport, said: "This was a substantial project which has helped to make an already popular part of Cardiff even more attractive for residents in this area as well as the many cyclists, walkers and runners who use the park and Taff Trail. Access to and from Radyr and Llandaff North has also been greatly enhanced for residents in this area.

"Well done to all the dedicated officers, councillors and partners who have worked hard to make sure the work was completed on time, and to a high quality. I hope the opening of the bridge encourages more people to visit Hailey Park and explore the Taff Trail."

Leading musicians from across Wales will perform at the prestigious event at the Wales Millennium Centre on Wednesday October 23, bringing together professionals from the worlds of folk, roots, ethnic and traditional music.

WOMEX announced that Wales' proposal, headed up by Cerys Matthews as Artistic Director, had been awarded the opening concert earlier in the year.

Among the performers will be leading folk musicians Cass Meurig, Gwenan Gibbard, D n A , Georgia Ruth, Patrick Rimes, Siân James , Robin Huw Bowen, Wales-India collaboration between Gwyneth Glyn and Tauseef Akhtar, 'Ghazalaw' and Twm Morys.

"It will raise Wales' profile, stimulate interest in and demand for our music and musicians globally - with all that means in terms of export, development of Wales' music economy and of course cultural tourism. It's going to be one very special evening, the effects of which will echo for years to come."

Cardiff 50+ Forums celebrates Everyone's Future

The Everyone's Future project marked its first year with a day of music, dance and performance at the Glanfa Stage of the Wales Millennium Centre.

Instrumental in planning and organising the event were members of the Cardiff 50+ Forums, which were recently set up by Cardiff Council to help people over 50 get their voices heard.

The first birthday celebrations featured fantastic performances from dance company Motion Control, young singers and bands from the Area 41 youth centre and rousing recitals from both Laura Bradshaw's Community Choir and Autumn Sounds Older Persons Choir.

The event finished with a live Q & A session with Seb Craig and Rosemary Macvie, the stars of ITV hit show Off Their Rockers.

Everyone's Future is a Big Lottery-funded joint project between Vibe Experience, Age Concern Cardiff and the Vale of Glamorgan that aims to tackle negative stereotyping and challenge age discrimination amongst younger and older people.

The event topped off a fantastic year for the project, with over 2,000 older and younger people taking part in workshops across Cardiff and the Vale of Glamorgan.

The Everyone's Future Working Group are now planning more events and workshops for the second year of the project.

If you would like more information about the Everyone's Future project or would like to join the Working Group, please contact Louise David, Age Equality Worker (Young People) on 01446 700622 or email louise@vibeexperience.com

Meanwhile the next meetings of the Cardiff 50+ Forums will take place at the following times/venues:

14th October, the Power House, Llanedeyrn at 2pm

16th October, County Hall at 2pm

Students rewarded for German prowess

THE prize-giving ceremony of the fourth Cardiff-Stuttgart Prize for schools for the best German essay has taken place.

The ceremony is put on each year by the Cardiff-Stuttgart Association who have been promoting the German language in schools and colleges through this essay-writing competition.

With the Olympics still fresh in the mind, this years' essay was all about sport.

The 13 participants, all A-level students from two Cardiff schools were asked to write about their favourite sport (or mein lieblingssport in German).

This year's winner was Nikita Chawathe from Howells School who received a cheque for £100.

The two runner-ups were Lara Durani from Glantaf High School and Zoe Hall, also from Howells who each received £50.

The ceremony was held at County Hall and attended by Cardiff's Lord Mayor, Councillor Derrick Morgan.

He said: "This prize giving ceremony has become an annual event which is to be celebrated as it promotes students' interest in foreign languages. The Cardiff-Stuttgart-Association continues to motivate students to study German and I would like to congratulate all the students that have done so well in this competition."

A jury of native German speakers had the difficult task of selecting the winning essay. Two of the jury members are former presidents of the Association. They are Ilse Fisher and Johannes Gramich, as well as the German Honorary Consul Mrs Helga Rother-Simmonds.

The Cardiff-Stuttgart Association is not only a city twinning organisation with links to Stuttgart, it also functions as a meeting place for people who are interested in the language and culture of the German speaking peoples.

The meetings take place monthly at City Hall with talks and discussions held in German. New members, students and visitors are always welcome. For more information visit www.cardiff-stuttgart.org.

Bishop of Llandaff triumph in Live N' Cooking Final

BISHOP of Llandaff High School were recently crowned the Live n' Cooking Winners for 2013, in a competition where four Cardiff secondary schools went head to head in a bid to have their culinary creations included on the menu in all secondary schools in the city.

The team made up of students from Year 9 were declared winners with their tasty 'Bishop Wedges' and 'Cottage Toppers' dishes.

The School Nutrition Action Group (SNAG) Event 2013 was organised by Cardiff Council's Education Catering team and the Public Health Dietetic Team of Cardiff and Vale University Health Board to celebrate the contribution SNAGs have made towards improving food and nutrition in their schools.

Students from Bishop of Llandaff Church in Wales High School, Glyn Derw High School, St Teilo's Church in Wales High School and Whitchurch High School flexed their culinary muscles in a 'cook off' to produce healthy and tasty potato based dishes.

The finalists' recipes were appealing to young people, practical to prepare in large volumes with ingredients available to school caterers, and were nutritionally balanced, complying with Appetite for Life standards, which aim to improve the nutritional standards of food and drink in schools in Wales.

All creations were judged by a panel including Chris Davies (Catering Services Manager for Education Catering), Eryl Powell (Principal Health Promotion Specialist for Cardiff and Vale University Health Board), Richard Shaw (Focus on Food Advisory Teacher) and students. The students also delivered marketing presentations, explaining the reasons for choosing the dish, consultation and product evaluations and how they plan to promote their dish.

Schools welcome special visitors

TWO Cardiff primary schools played host to visitors from overseas during the summer term as part of a British Council project to share best practice and cultures.

Ninian Park Primary School and St Mary the Virgin Church in Wales Primary School welcomed representatives from their partner schools in Zambia and Bangladesh respectively as part of the Connecting Classrooms programme.

Staff and teachers at Ninian Park Primary were visited by Mrs Namakaliza Kazwala, teadteacher of Konkola Trust Primary School in Chililabombwe, Zambia and teacher Liz Bwalya Mulumba for a week, during which they exchanged ideas about teaching and worked on planning mutually beneficial, shared projects for the children in both schools.

The schools are in their second year of a successful partnership, with Ninian Park teachers also travelling to visit their Zambian partner school recently.

The visit to St Mary the Virgin Primary built on an existing link between the Diocese of Llandaff and Church of Bangladesh as Kamela Murmu , headteacher of St Barnabas School in Paitapukur, Rajshahi and Reverend Michael Soren, parish priest of the same village, spent time in Cardiff planning collaborative work on global citizenship which will focus on climate change as well as exploring how languages are taught in both settings.

Headteacher of St Mary the Virgin Primary, Ruth Jackson, said: "I am delighted to welcome Mrs Murmu and Reverend Soren to St Mary the Virgin School. When Father Francis, chair of Governors and I visited Bangladesh last year we had an incredible time meeting with children and teachers alike and sharing information about how schools work in Bangladesh. We hope that our visitors will be inspired by some of the ideas that we use from our 'teacher's toolkit'."

THE Insole Court Trust held a very successful event aimed at showing how the venue was used during World War II.

The entry ticket was a replica ration book and people attending the event were whisked back in time with re-enactors and entertainers playing the roles of GIs, home guards, land army girls, workers in the Women's Voluntary Service (WVS) canteen and even a spiv.

The dining room at Insole Court was used by the Royal Observer Corps to plot aircraft flying over South Wales, and this room was carefully reproduced for the event.

WWII expert Geoffrey Barton-Greenwood gave a talk as well as Eileen Younghusband, who spoke about working for the Women's Auxiliary Air Force (WAAF) on radar operations during WWII.

During WWII, the Insole Court gardens were used to run 'Holidays at Home' events, to boost morale. This was recreated with a team of stallholders keeping everyone entertained with the 'Hit the Hitler' shy, treasure map and bottle stall, as well as fundraising stalls. Lindy Hop Cardiff also put on a display of swing dance.

The day managed to raise £450 for the Insole Court Renewal Project. The Insole Court Trust will be holding another heritage day on Sunday, September 15, from 2pm to 4pm, when the house will be open for heritage hunts and garden trails. More details about the Insole Court Renewal Project can be found on www.insolecourt.com
